

Synthetic words fill this short paragraph so that a narrower wrap moves them onto more lines.

Plain words with bold and italic runs inside one paragraph, then strong words close the block.

AVATAR leads a line that a narrower wrap breaks onto more lines.

Small text then LARGE words and more small words close the block.

Plain then red words again here and the block ends in red.

A rule sits between these two lines.

One scale on this line
another on this one

Each full line here is stretched by its own word spacing so both edges meet the margins while the last one stays ragged.

Letter spacing widens every line so its glyphs reach the margin but the last one stays tight.
